Mystery About Death of Man at Mouth of Mine In Durango County In State of Colorado

COMPANY CLAIMS
HE WAS TRESSPASSE

Evidence That Cowardly Murder Was Committed Is Furnished By Contradictory Stories and Weapons Found

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 3.—Work-reached here tonight that Joseph W-ker, a United States secret servman, was shot and instantly killed an employee of the Hesperus mine, located several miles west of Durango. The shooting occurred at the mouth of the air shaft of the mine and is said to have been done in self-defense.

The Hesperus mine is owned by W-Porter Fuel company and C. G. Unseattorney for the company, was notified of the killing today. His report of the affair, which he says is trustworthy, clearly justifies the shooting.

Several of the government agents have been in the Durango country for several days gathering evidence to be used in prosecuting persons indicted for fraudulent entries of the coal land.

This being Sunday, no work was progress in the Hesperus mine and several of the miners were strolling over the company property, and on approaching the air shaft, isolated from the rest of the workings, a man who was standing at the mouth of the shaft, ordered them to halt. The miners thought he was joking and did not obey, whereupon, according to Dorsey's story, the man fired, the bullet passing close to the head of one of the miners. The latter whipped out a revolver and returned the fire, killing the man instantly.

down into the mine and this was hauled to the surface. Some time afterward three men, all government agents, appeared at the mine entrance, being unable to make exit any other way. Dorsey says there was no reason for the secret service men entering the Hesperus mine as the title to the property is not questioned and their action was simple trespass.

Late tonight a telegraph message from Durango contained information based on the authority of Thomas Harper, entirely at variance with the statement coming from the Hesperus people. Harner was the first to communicate with Durango authorities, going several miles to reach a telephone. He stated that he and his two companions who went into the mine did not learn of the killing.

It was not true that they came out through the mouth of the tunnel, but they, instead, they had returned to the

that instead they had returned to the surface by means of the rope ladder by which they had descended into the mine. Harper also stated that four bullet wounds were found in Walker's body. At the jail tonight
Mason is said to have told that Walker had two shots in him and had been out-did by Vanderwilde in defense of Mason. Mason claims that Walk-

Harpur claims that Walker's revolver shows but one cartridge discharged and that this was exploded in shooting at a mark yesterday. Harpur further stated according to the dispatch that the Hesperus people were notified on Friday that on that day the mine would be inspected by government agents for the purpose of discerning whether or not the boundary lines of the company's property had been reached. In going in the direction of the mine on that day the store continues, the plan was abandoned until today.

M'GOWAN WILL FIRE HENRY, IF ELECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—That he will depose Henry if he is elected district attorney was the statement made by McGowan at the political meeting he addressed last night. This is the first time that Methowall has come on in the open and said he would take the work of prosecution of the hoodlums out of the hands of Francis J. Henry, though his previous speech

"I will cut off Henry's head as soon as I get into office," he shouted with prosecutive fervor. "I will prosecute my own cases."

The company was pleased with his perfunctory assurances and, although chiefly from Motow's eloquence and Medlow's did not much bug in this phase of the campaign, he launched into his characteristic share of the men pushing the prosecution, saying that Henry had no intention of prosecuting Callum and was keeping back the case until after the election.

"Yes," he said, "and when I have cut off Henry's head and taken P. B.

"I wish to call attention to Biggs's head being taken from him, and to express the strongest sympathy and condolence I can wish to impute in vindication, but I want you to understand that if elected district attorney I will investigate the charges made against Storozoff in regard to the distribution of the relief funds."

The remainder of his speech was as follows: "I have said that I am no politician; I am a Jew, and I intend to prosecute Calhoun

Fruit and Raisin News

ALMERIA CROP
NOT SO LARGEReports of 2,500,000 Barrels
Estimated Too Great.Valencia Raisin Crop Is 30,000 Tons—Size of Berries Is Small.

Consular Agent A. E. Curleton, reporting from Almeria, says that the first direct boat leaving that Spanish port for America, which will reach New York in September, carried something like 10,000 barrels of Almeria grapes. Concerning this year's crop results, he says:

"The season is slightly early owing to excellent weather conditions, and if these continue during the cutting of the fruit buyers in the United States may be reasonably sure of good fruit. Reports have gone forth that the total number of barrels this fall would reach 2,500,000, but the latest advice from all parts of the province indicate that the sanguine expectations of two months ago will scarcely be realized. Conservative estimates at present place the total crops at about 2,000,000 barrels.

The production in weight of each vine is said to be less than usual, owing to lack of water, but, on the other hand, the grapes will be of excellent keeping quality and free from spots.

"The Fruit Shippers' association will not allow more than 25,000 barrels to be loaded in any one boat for New York, since the shipments last year of 50,000 and 40,000 barrels in one steamer did not prove to be favorable to good delivery. There will also be direct boats to Boston and one or two to Philadelphia."

Consul C. S. Winnans of Valencia reports that the prospect for the present raisin crop of that part of Spain is very much better than that of 1905 or 1906, to which he adds:

"Should the weather continue seasonable until October there will be approximately 30,000 tons of raisins produced in this district for export, about twice the amount produced last year. The fruit will be somewhat smaller in size than those of other years owing to the lack of rains during the growing season. During the last two years the drying season was very unfavorable, with the result that the raisins for both years were very badly cured, causing a good deal of dissatisfaction both to buyers and sellers.

"Packers do not seem to be united as to opening prices, but from present indications it is expected that they will open at about $4.00 per hundred-weight, packer ready for shipment, for the cheapest grade, which American buyers usually select, claiming that they cannot import the higher grades at a profit. The finest classes, known as 'fine offstalks,' 'finest offstalks,' 'selects,' and 'four-crown layers,' range in prices from $5.50 to $7 per hundred-weight. Most of these are exported to England and Germany. Freight rate to New York is 20 shillings ($4.48) and 10 per cent for slight half boxes of twenty-eight pounds net of raisins. Last year's crop of raisins is exhausted. Even the retailers here cannot secure any for the local trade.

ROBS MAN WHO FED AND GAVE HIM SHELTER

J. Wilson, a negro, was arrested yesterday for robbing T. Cole, an old negro who makes a living by collecting and selling junk, of a lot of copper and brass, worth about $4.

Cole found Wilson penniless and hungry on the streets one day last week and took him to his home on Sherry avenue where he fed and gave him shelter. Saturday he decamped with the old man's hard-earned stock in trade. Policeman Davis found him in Chinatown yesterday morning.

PRICES ON SECOND
CROP MUSCATS HOLDPredicted Stump for Goods Sold to Wineries Not Felt By Week's End.

Prices on wine grapes continue the same, with a good deal of fruit coming to the wineries. While it has been predicted that the price for both second and third crops of muscats and wine grapes would fall, no movement of this kind is felt yet. Goods on the trays continue to come in at the wineries, largely on account, no doubt, of the lack of confidence on the part of the grower in the weather for drying the second crop, most of which went onto the trays before the hard rain of some days ago.

Buying in first crop muscats has been done some lately, with prices ranging from 4½ cents to 4½ cents, though the market is still far from active.

"NEGLECTED RICH"
INSTEAD OF POOR

ventigues, it, then," said the czar shortly, "and report the result to me."

A long search in the military order book revealed the fact that, eighty years ago, Catherine II., looking from her window had seen the first spring flower shoot above the snow. She ordered a sentinel to be placed there in order to prevent any one from breaking the record. No one thought to countermand the order afterward, and for eighty years a sentinel had kept watch on that very spot; a human monument of blind useless obedience to old orders and customs.

Many a preacher stands within the courts of the church a sentinel over some withered flower of the past. The church of the times must meet the needs of the times. We have a gospel, but we must study the intelligent application of the gospel. The truth may be the same, but the method must change with the time.

One fault, I think, the church has had in that it does not still have it is a lack of good business methods. Business men want business done in a business way. While we may not hold ourselves up as a model church, yet I am persuaded there are few churches conducted upon better business principles than this. A church should be conducted upon the latest and best business principles. It should have a "cheap-John" method of raising money. The bride of Christ should not be reduced to the humiliation of being compelled to wear robes purchased at a rummage sale.

Another fault, I think, the church has had, in that she does not appear to the manliness of men. Men like to be appealed to undertake great things, to do heroic things. Men will respond to the war-trumpet. Men can be enlisted for great commercial and industrial enterprises. Those first disciples of Christ went forth under a huge call—commanded as they were, to make conquest of the world. And they were men. Jesus never sent forth a woman. It was man's work, calling for man's means, and man's energy, and man's endurance.

In our day we have largely left the greatest enterprise on earth to be carried on by women—the conquest of the world. The call of the Presbyterian church today is for men. Four thousand men are asked for, and six millions of dollars with which to equip and keep them in the field, for the purpose of evangelizing the two hundred and fifty million of the race, set apart to us. This is man's work, and should appeal to all that is best and noblest in man.

Truth Never Changes.

Again, I believe the church has lost ground by not holding to the old gospel, in all its simplicity—truth never changes. There can be no substitute for it. Men are not always willing to acknowledge it, but every man knows that he has need of salvation.

That that is his supreme need. If the church cannot offer him a way of salvation from sin, then so far as he is concerned, it has nothing to offer. What does he care for sermons on socialism, on politics, on science, on higher criticism, on evolution? He knows a thousand fold more about all these subjects than the man in the pulpit, who thinks he is enlightening him.

In the church only a club for mutual improvement? If it be, he knows of one that suits him a great deal better.

There is an elemental fault upon the part of the man outside the church, in the standards which he has adopted for judging the church. He passes judgment upon the church because of what an individual in the church may say or do. If one man is bad and ninety-nine others are good, that one man represents the church for him, and he turns his back upon it. What is the purpose of the church, and the work of the church, and the large majority of the church membership, and the best and only example in the church? These are the just standards. Man outside of the church, what think you of the Christ, and the power and influence of this body of His in the world? What have you against Christ? Will you condemn a whole vineyard of muscats because perchance there has gotten into it a few vines producing sour grapes? But here is a man who boasts of his morality and imaginary power to live without the church. Where did he get his morality? The moon might as well ignore the sun, and then boast of her light.

All the worth that any man has, and is, is owed directly or indirectly to the church. It is the church which has preserved this gospel which has made man's civilization what it is, and his salvation what it may be. It has built his asylums and hospitals, and educational institutions. It has been the birth-place of every civilizing and refining influence. It has been the source of light in the world's darkness. All worth that any man has he owes to it.

Lastly, no obligation was ever placed upon the man inside the church which God has not also placed upon the man outside the church.

With all the faults of the church, the failure of any man to recognize its temporal and eternal blessing is a greater fault.

DECISION GIVENCopy of Wellborn's Words as

$7500 Should Be Given By Defendant.

"Editor Republican:—As a matter of fact, I hand you enclosed copy of an order for injunction recently granted by the U. S. Circuit court in the case of U. S. Consolidated Seeded Raisin Co. vs. Chadcock & Co.

"JOHN H. MILLER." The document enclosed with the letter of Mr. Miller, who is the well known San Francisco attorney for the Consolidated, reads as follows:

"In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California, Northern Division. United States Consolidated Seeded Raisin Company, complainant, vs. Chadcock Company, defendant. No. 57.

"Complainant's motion for an injunction pendente lite having come regularly to be heard on October 24th, 1907, and the same having been argued by counsel for the respective parties, it is now

"Ordered: That a restraining order be granted, enjoining and restraining the defendant, Chadcock & Company, its officers, agents, servants and employees, until the further order of the court, from making, using or selling any raisin seedling machine containing and embracing the invention patented by Claim 17 of United States Letters Patent No. 818,688, dated February 14th, 1899; that to say, a machine for seeding fruit comprising a cylindrical carrier composed of thin plates of two constructions arranged alternately, the plates of one construction having long teeth spaced apart circumferentially so as to exclude the seeds of the fruit, and the plates of the other construction being of smaller diameter and smooth circular contour and of such thickness as to exclude the seeds of the raisins, pressing means for imparting the fruit on such teeth, a seed stripping device and a fruit stripping device, or any merely colorable modification or mechanical equivalent thereof, unless the said defendant shall within fifteen days from October 24th, 1907, execute and file with clerk of the court a good and sufficient undertaking, in the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500.00), conditioned to pay to the complainant, the United States Consolidated Seeded Raisin Company, such damages as the complainant may suffer by reason of the use and operation by the defendant for seeded raisins, during the current season commencing on the 14th of September, 1907, of such a machine as hereinabove specified, not to exceed in the aggregate a total sum of $1,000.00, if the court shall finally determine that said machine so used is an infringement upon said Claim 17—the sufficiency of the sureties to said undertaking, if not satisfactory to complainant's attorney, to be approved by the clerk of the court within said fifteen days.

"Los Angeles, October 31st, 1907."

"OLIN WELLBORN, Judge."

This helps to settle some difference of opinion as to the exact import of the decision, which was first reported from memory of the verbal order of the court.

of God." This new heart is pure, and will wage a war to the end of life against the sinful desires and motions of the old fleshly nature that still rises up to trouble us.

Just as out of the slime of the streets the chemist picks the clay and changes it to sapphire, the sand and changes it to opal, the snot and makes of it carbon and diamond, the water and forms of it the snow-flake, so God takes the worst of men, ruined by sin and makes of them His saints and martyrs, fit citizens at last for Heaven, purified by garden and suffering. Just as the beautiful butterfly springs from the caterpillar, so a purified soul rises in these bodies that shall yet soar to the skies.

"O for a man to rise in me
That the man I am may cease to be"

Think not this transformation is impossible to God, when scientists are hot on the trail of the secret of changing one metal to another, radium from helium, possibly at last good from copper.

Who we know not the secret processes in the soul by which a man is changed in feeling and disposition to broken God, by which his hard heart is broken and he yields in glad surrender to the Savior, and finds joy in the very holiness that used to seem so dull to him. Yet it takes place, and always under the spell of that uplifted Cross on which hung bleeding high two thousand years ago.

Jesus told Nicodemus that he knew what he was talking about because he had himself brought this truth down from heaven, "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth may in Him have eternal life."

That serpent has been the sign for healing medicine for centuries, only that pain and suffering can good health come off them, the operation must be performed, the pus removed, the corruption taken out.

So from the heart sin must be purged ere healthy soul life begins, and Jesus says that He is the one who shall do it when He is lifted up. He sees himself suffering on the cross, sees how that very death will attract men to him, sees this very Nicodemus as he came that evening after the crucifixion, emboldened by the very tragedy of Calvary to come out openly and crave the body of Jesus, to confess himself his disciple.

It is only as we see what He has suffered for us, that we are constrained to love and follow Him. No one can deny that it was the death of Christ that moved his disciples to the heroic, and his Resurrection that made them bold as lions to proclaim

AGED MAN KILLS
HIS DRUNKEN SON

REDDWOOD CITY, Nov. 3.—John Curtis, the proprietor of the Sierra Hotel, a road house near South San Francisco on the Bay Shore road, who shot and killed his son Harry yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was attacked by bitter remorse for his act today. Harry Curtis had been in South San Francisco and was returning to his home at 8 o'clock. What happened between that time and the moment he met his death from a bullet of a revolver in the hands of his parent, no one knows.

As far as has been ascertained there were no witnesses to the shooting. Curtis, who is 56 years old, sat down on the roadside, near the body of his son, whom he had shot as the probable result of a quarrel. When Coroner Plymire, who had been notified of the shooting, arrived on the scene the parent walked over to him and gave him the revolver, remarking as he did so, "If that thing would work you would have found two corpses here. Plymire inspected the revolver and found a cartridge so jammed as to render the weapon useless.

Curtis was placed in the county jail here late last night and repeatedly said to the officers that he was not sorry for killing his son. He was under the influence of liquor last night, but this morning recognized his predicament more clearly and kept his lips sealed about the shooting.

Harry Curtis here a bad reputation in South San Francisco, being known as a heavy drinker. During his known he is credited with having often mistreated and beaten his aged parent, who killed him yesterday with a single shot, the bullet entering at the left nipple and passing out at the back about two inches below the shoulder blade.

Sunday Services in the Churches

FIRST TRUST WAS AMONG ISRAELITES

Rev. Brown Says They Had Corner in Sacrifices.

First "Trust Busting" Was Done in Temple of Jerusalem Among Lenders.

At the First Baptist church, Pastor Arthur Polk Brown preached on "The Life That Comes from God," Jan. 3: 6-7, "That which is born of flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again."

After the first converts have been won, Christ's first miracle is quickly done. There was only three days till Jesus comes to the wedding feast in Cana, showing by his attendance that he was ready to mingle with men socially even in their hours of gaiety, following the rite of marriage by his presence and aid. The common sense of life is deepest in their lasting meanings. This humble village was immortalized because here Jesus did his first miracle, not to amaze with astonishment a gaping crowd, but to help out of embarrassment a worried host at the supreme hour of his family's life.

"The conscious water saw its God, and blushed," the willing servants risked their reputation in bearing it to the governor, and were the first to thrill with the knowledge that a divine miracle had taken place. It typified how Christ came to intensify and enrich the common things of life, how he could use humble means for noble ends, how he brought divine power into even the greatest joys of love and life, thus sanctifying all.

Dr. Dodds says: "And just because of this difficulty, we find in reconciling religion with joy, God with Nature, does Christ reveal his glory first at a marriage-feast—not in the Temple, not in the synagogue,—but at a festive gathering, thus, thus, they may recognize in Him the Lord of all human life, and see that His work of redemption is coextensive with human experience." He came not to hallow small sections of sacred things in life, but to sanctify all normal life and its myriad relations with the indwelling guidance of God, glorifying the common by the radiance of the divine.

Driving Out the Thieves. As soon as He had thus proven the will of His mission, He goes to the official center of Jewish religion and purges that from its crying abuses. For in that magnificent Temple at Jerusalem, there was an ancient monopoly or trust, as grinding as our modern trusts, and more hateful because it dealt in the money, and animals, required by the worshippers to make their souls' peace by sacrifices in that Temple.

Thus they dealt in the very commodity that of all others, should be unhampered, men's salvation. They ran up the price of doves and lambs for sacrifice to twenty times their real value, because they were officially in a position to pronounce perfect and spiced for sacrifice by the priests, and were the only authorized animals for sale. The priests, and especially the High-priest, was thus enabled to set a great racket, a graft of large proportions, out of the very sacrifices, over and above what they were allowed by law.

And when Jesus marched boldly up to these money-changers and sellers of animals and ordered them out of His Father's house, used violence, overthrowing their tables, mauling out the money, driving out the cattle and the astonished men who sold there with a whip-lash in his hands, there was panic and tremendous excitement. Even the disciples, those who followed Him, and found in Him "Zeal for the house shall eat me up."

But Jesus' pointed question was, make not my Father's house a house of merchandise. This invading of the Temple, because of the sons of Ananias, incurred the bitter hostility of the profit-taking class in the Temple, and led finally to His arrest and death. It is dangerous to expose and thwart the sins of the "powers that be" even in a religious hierarchy.

So this day the conflict is on, and the hostile priests that through them may overcome and crucify Him. He will show the catching sign that shall conquer the world. His resurrection. The Temple and the Cross are pitted for battle by this day's bold strike for honesty, decency and reverence for the sanctuary. For if men will not honestly respect a house of worship, if they will bring their cheating and defrauding into the very shrine, of course there is no hope of cleaning up the rest of their life.

A Frank Enquirer, Nicodemus. Yet there was one to whom Jesus opened the very doors of the gospel, a man who came to Him secretly, by night, to ask for light, that in the room, the sighing wind whistling around the corner, that leader of the dignified Sanhedrin, discomfited at the start by Christ's selection of all his boasted position and works how fit a time and place for the teaching of the great doctrine of the New Birth. "Except a man be born again," Jesus says, and unveils to that Nicodemus and many a modern man, the view of the Kingdom as something external, a visible reign of the Messiah as an earthly Potentate from Jerusalem. But Jesus says, Lu. 17: 21, "The Kingdom of God cometh not with observation; neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for behold the kingdom of God is within you."

It's a new life then, a new nature that reshapes one's character, that transforms one's life from within. We are first to become other than our old self by actually being new creatures in Christ. Not made different by an improved environment and education, but made different by a new life that comes direct from God through His Spirit, as mysteriously as that wind comes and goes.

It has ever been the dream of science to originate life from crass matter by mechanical means, but God jealously guards the portals of life, and it's still true that life only comes from life, the germ or atom must be given by some other life era it can develop. And back of the long chain standeth God within the shadow, giving the first impulse and throbs of life to inanimate matter. So men dream of an improving themselves, so reforming and so thinking that they shall at last be good like God, but it cannot be. There must be the seed of divine life planted in our soul, there to germinate and develop into the truly good life.

Marvel Not. "Ye must be born again" is Nature's universal law. When you want to get luscious apples from the crab-apple you graft in a bud of the luscious variety you want. When you want fruit at all you must fertilize the flower, the egg must be awakened to life by fertilization ere it becomes living being, biogenesis is Nature's method everywhere, and it's God's way in the spiritual world as truly as in the natural world.

Do you hear the wind sweeping through the Aiyah? The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest the voice thereof, but knowest not whence it cometh, whither it goeth; so is everyone that is born of the Spirit. We see the effects of the wind, and see the effects of this breath of the Spirit on a man's life, yet we cannot explain the why and how of conversion.

It's true that this faith and love for Christ is making men better, does change and sweeten their hearts, does tame the wild man, save the drunkard, make liberal the churl, transform the heathen into compassionate Christians. "By their fruits ye shall know them," and the fruits of Christianity are good.

The Only Way. To get real worth in character you must have the outward expression of an abounding inner life. The good White-washing clay won't make it into fine china-ware, only the kneading and the fire of the kiln can do that.

Many people are good because they have to be to stay in good society, or keep out of jail, but they are rotten at heart, and sliding easily on to hell, while men admire their hypocritical morality; no religiousness will save a man till his heart is cleansed by God; till he receives a life from Above.

A vicious horse needs, not merely kicking-scrapes, but a new disposition. You can't make men good by merely putting the straps of fear and law on to stop their kicking up trouble. They must be converted. Many love sin while the fear of hell compels them to give it up, but they must let the Spirit out the love of it out of their heart ere they are saved.

"Sunken rocks wreck more vessels than those that rise above the waves, so hidden sin rearing in the heart is more hurtful than when it rages in the life."

That's the secret of so many seeming religious for awhile and then falling away, they were imitating "Christ, not vitally connected with Him like a branch abiding in the vine, and so they grew weary in forced good works that they had no true heart in, and quit.

Such are tired of the service ere it is begun, come but to carp and criticize, go out and count it a bore that God wants them to be so particularly about honesty, virtue, patience, kindness, and morals, wish that others wouldn't bother them so they could give all their lives to their own pleasures at their own sweet will. If you feel thus that God's demands are too some and His service burdensome, I warn you, you are not a converted man, though your name may be on the church-roll.

God demands that we love Him and His service. He wants no mere lip-service while the heart is set on worldly things. "If ye love me ye will keep my commandments" and do it gladly, too. Though you might admit a man with only a worldly mind to heaven, he would feel the pang of hell there, for his soul would have no joy in the holy occupations of that happy home where love reigns and all find best joy in others' service, and quick apprehension of all the works of God. "Regeneration is a change of principle."

I will give thee one heart and I will put a new spirit within thee; and I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them a heart of flesh; that they may walk in my statutes, and keep mine ordinances, and do them; and they shall be my people, and I will be their God. Jer. 31: 33.

Not New Faculties, but New Direction. "Born of water and of the Spirit" shows the two-fold nature of the new birth. The water must have reference to John's baptism and that repentance for sin and cleansing from its guilt for which baptism is the symbol. The Spirit is that inspiring indwelling of God that wakes every dormant possibility of good within us and spurs the new life on to action and noble deed. Here we have the paragon and the dynamic power of the new life.

It is not destroying the metal of the old cracked bell, but a molting down and recasting of the metal of our nature till we can ring out the sweet chiming of God's redeeming love. "It confers no new faculties, or sensitivities, but awakens, restores, and controls those already in existence."

It restores the dust and grime of ages from the old masterpiece of God's original likeness in man. It shows forth the glorified thought of the Creator in our regenerate character.

Not only is our debt to God forgiven, but we don't want to run up any fresh account of sin. "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for His seed remaineth in him; and he cannot sin, because he is born of God." (Continued on Page 3)

"NEGLECTED RICH" INSTEAD OF POOR

Rev. Thomas Boyd Says Wealthy Needs Help.

Declares That Country Needs Piety and Honesty In Business to Prevent Panics.

Rev. Thomas Boyd at the First Presbyterian church preached on: "I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Romans 1:16.

The commercial needs of today, just as does the magnetic needle which waxes upon by some disturbing force. The commercial needs have been holding steadily to the pole-star of prosperity through an unprecedented period. Why this disturbance?

As for almost any great unsettling event, many causes are being suggested. Some highest up, and who want an opportunity to vent their spleen, attribute it to the president. While he in turn says: "If it shall teach men honesty—that the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule are the real basis of all commercial prosperity then the price is not too much to pay."

Again he says: "There is something in this world greater than the making of money—the making of character."

Says the Wall Street Journal, a publication not issued under the auspices of the church, and which is not a distinctively religious organ: "What America needs more than railway extension, and western irrigation, and a low tariff, and a bigger wheat crop, and a merchant marine, and a new navy, is a revival of piety, the kind mother and father used to have, piety that counted it good business before breakfast, right in the middle of the harvest; that quit work a half-hour earlier Thursday night, so as to get the church done and go to prayer meeting; that borrowed money to pay the preacher's salary and prayed fervently in secret for the salvation of the rich man who looked on with scorn on such unbusiness-like behavior."

That is what we need now to clean this country of the filth of graft, and greed, petty and big, of worship of fine horses and big lands and high office and grand social functions.

What is this thing which we are worshipping but a vain reputation of what decayed nations fell down and worshipped just before their light went out? Read the history of Rome in decay and you'll find luxury there that could lay a big dollar over our little doughnut that looks so large to us. Great wealth never made a nation substantial nor honorable. There is nothing on earth that looks good that is so dangerous for a man or a nation to handle as quick, easy, big money. If you do resist its deadly influence the chances are that it will get your son. It takes greater and finer heroism to dare to be poor in America than to charge an earth-worm in Manchuria.

What is it that makes character? It is religion. It is Buddhism that makes the Indian. It is Confucianism that makes the Chinaman. It is Taoism or Shintoism that makes the Japanese. It is Mohammedanism that makes the Turk. It is Fetichism that makes the African. It is Christianity that makes us, or leaves us unmade.

The Christian religion has in it everything necessary to make the highest type of man. Its God is the loftiest conception of the human mind can grasp—the infinite. Yet he comes down to the relationship of Father, its bond is absolutely pure in all its teachings. There is not a precept in the Bible that is not elevating. Its one character given us for example and imitation is absolutely flawless.

The religion of Jesus Christ is the only faith known to the world that has power to purify human life. It is the only religion that demands of its adherents purity of life.

Should Practice Religion. The whole-hearted acceptance of its doctrines and their practice in the world, put the race upon the highest conceivable plane of living. It would regulate every human relationship. Government would be perfectly and honestly administered in every part. The business and commercial world would be in perfect adjustment. Society would be pure and clean. Every home would be an Eden. The Christian religion has ever fostered learning. The oldest educational institutions in the world were founded and maintained by the church. That is true of the old world, and it is also true in the new.

There is nothing weak in the Christian religion—in its philosophy, in its teachings, in its practical workings. It encompasses the whole of man's being and his every relation for time and eternity.

It does not make against the Christian religion, against its potency, that it has not accomplished all the foregoing. It does not argue against the potency of piety and electricity that they have not hitherto wrought the marvelous transformations in the material world of which they have been capable. These forces have existed from the beginning with all their super-human power, but only in our day are they being applied.

But, now, behold by them a transformed earth. Wherever the Christian religion is accepted indubitably it does transform character. It has the power to do this. The reason it has not accomplished more is that it has not been applied.

Just as these great forces of steam and electricity can only work as men use all themselves of them, so Christianity is helpless to accomplish anything for men except as they avail themselves of its transforming power.

One of our young business men—not a member of the church—asked the question the other evening: "Why are there not more of the leading, influential business men in the church?" That is a very proper question to ask, especially in view of the fact that there are ten million non-church going men in the United States. Nearly three-fourths of the membership of the church are women. Of the attendance at church nine-tenths are women.

I was in a church not long since—as I have had occasion before this to note—in which there were two hundred and fifty-six people present—of that congregation fourteen were men, and two of them were in the pulpit and two others were in the choir.

Who are these who stay away from the church? We hear much in these days of the "neglected poor," there is a greater demand for emphasizing upon the needs of the "neglected rich." There is not church room for one-half of the population, if they wanted to go to church. There is not church room enough in this city for one-fourth of the population. And what room there is not always all taken. That which is taken is largely occupied by women. Where are the men?

This condition did not always prevail. What are the forces in modern life which are the producers of this evil? Is it the fault of the church or the men? Let us see. If we discover the cause of the illness, we are more liable to furnish a cure. If a man has heart disease, cutting his finger nails will not save him. Let us be bold in our diagnosis and patient and skillful with the remedy—by all means save the man.

"There is no fault, as we have seen, with the Christian religion. It has power. I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it has the power of God." But let us confirm ourselves in this statement—that it has power. See what it accomplished in the first and succeeding centuries. In three centuries it changed the religion of Rome and put a Christian emperor on the throne of the Caesars. The fact then that there are not more men in the church is not the fault of our religion—that it is without power.

Should Have Best Means. Is the fault with the church? Has the church used the best methods for the application of the gospel to the needs of men? Truth does not change, but the method of presenting it may. This finds illustration in the constantly changing methods in our public schools.

Whether these changes are all improvements may be a question. But the aim is good—to get the best means, that thereby the best results may be obtained.

If the old methods are worn out and ineffective, it is folly and sin to continue their operation. The Emperor of Russia, while showing a distinguished visitor over his palace, was asked by the latter why a sentinel was placed on a small plot of grass in the grounds. The emperor called his aide-de-camp and asked for information. This the latter was unable to give, but he, too, was unable to enlighten the czar. "Send me the general in command of the forces here," said the emperor. The general came, but could give no further information than that his orders were to post an armed sentinel on that spot. "In-

A PRACTICAL LESSON

For some years, all the financial authorities in the United States have been calling attention to the need of an elastic credit currency, automatically expanding and contracting to meet the needs of business, such as is now in practical operation in every other civilized country in the world. But since the question was academic, it aroused no practical interest. Our currency system was working, if not all right, at least not so badly as to jar the ordinary man with personal experience of its imperfection. Besides, we have a certain prejudice against the accumulated experience of civilization. We had rather resent the argument for a forestry system, based on the experience of all the rest of the world, until President Roosevelt beat the system into us, with the big stick. And on banking matters, the idea of profiting by the experience of the world was particularly repugnant, since that experience, among other things, goes counter to some of the doctrines of Andrew Jackson; and these doctrines are far too sacred to be overthrown by mere facts. So, when Secretary Shaw made excellent speeches, and President Roosevelt made excellent recommendations in his messages, nobody listened and nobody cared. We are a practical people, and do not get much excited over a mere argument. We await a practical situation.

Well, the situation is here, and with it, its lesson. Our business gradually expanded, until our fiscal system had either to stretch or break, and as we had carefully bound it, with inelastic hoops, to keep it from stretching, it had to break. Then came into use, without the safeguards of law, precisely the remedy which, under the law, had been recommended all along. The banks issued credit currency. In the form of certified clearing house checks, and the business of the country is being done with them, pending the arrival and unlocking of cash. When the emergency situation passes, the emergency circulation will automatically retire, even though no legal provision has been made to bring this about. The clearing house checks lack only three qualifications of meeting the situation, and the public mind is doubtless now prepared to have these three qualifications supplied by law. They do not look like cash, and are hence not available for use among ignorant people, who do not understand banking securities. They are an awkward emergency measure, and their issuance therefore announces a crisis, and alarms the public. And they are issued under no government supervision, which means that if they were a regular and common thing, unscrupulous persons would devise means of using them fraudulently.

The proposed remedies, while differing in detail, all meet these conditions. They provide for the issuance of emergency currency, payable to bearer, based on bank credit, under government supervision and guarantee. They provide for a small redemption tax on all the banks, sufficient, in the light of experience, to insure the payment of the notes of the few banks that fail. The government, as examiner and insurance agent, guarantees the notes, thus relieving the individual of any burden of inquiring into the credit of the particular bank issuing a note. And provision is made to insure the contraction of the currency when no longer needed, by making it more profitable to loan out cash, so long as there is cash enough to be had.

There were only three arguments against the system. One was, "it is not needed." We know now it is. Another was, "the automatic contraction provision will not work." But it is working, successfully, in every other civilized country in the world, including Canada and Mexico. The third was, "the government should keep out of the banking business and the banks out of the money-issuing prerogative." We know now, in the first place, that all the other governments in the world are in the banking business, and we ought to be, and in the second place that this emergency currency is not money, any more than a bank check is, but is merely a form of bank check available for that part of business in which ordinary bank checks are practically unworkable.

The situation is plain enough; in fact, it has always been plain. The only difference is that it has now become practical, also.

THE REFERENDUM

The San Francisco Star, confusing the Republican with the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, wants a "straight-forward answer" on "how do you stand on the initiative and referendum, under which the people can propose laws and amendments to their constitution, and under which they can veto vicious legislation by the legislature?"

The Republican can not speak for the Lincoln-Roosevelt League on this question. Nobody can, since it has had no occasion or opportunity to speak for itself. Some of the men who founded the league are very radically in favor of direct legislation. Others are not. The league as such has no opinion on the subject, and can have none, until its members are fully organized, and they have spoken. It is hoped that the membership of the league will eventually include all the good-government forces in the Republican party or willing to affiliate with it. That membership will elect delegates to a state assembly. Those delegates will frame the platform. If they have any common opinion on the referendum question, it will be their privilege to express it. If they want the Republican's advice, it will be to have no official opinions on any subject, except the immediate point at issue. Scattering of issues is the fault of all party platforms and of most reform movements.

But the Republican can give, and has often given, a "straightforward answer" of its own views on the initiative and referendum. We are not enthusiasts for these new-fangled devices for supplanting representative government, anywhere or under any circumstances. We are distinctly opposed to them under most conditions. We are decidedly opposed to the general system of government they seek to establish. Within strict limits, as a form of peaceful revolution, to repudiate the action of notoriously unfaithful representatives, the right may be useful. It was usefully employed in Sacramento the other day. We remember one occasion, in the past ten years, on which it would have been useful in Fresno. If the referendum can be confined within these limits, we have no objection to it, there. Neither are we enthusiastic for it, even in the cases where it is useful. And as a general system of government, or ordinary device, we regard it as the most dangerous possible revolution. It is, avowedly, an attempt to do away with representative government, and to substitute new and revolutionary institutions for the republican form of government bequeathed to us by our ancestors. We believe in a republican, or representative form of government. We believe that the only trouble with the present situation is that it is not representative but misrepresentative. The remedy is not to do away with representative institutions, or to lessen their responsibility, but to make them representative. If the direct primary will do that, and to the extent that it will do it, we favor the direct primary. Direct choice of representatives, to do the legislating, not direct legislation, is the remedy.

NEW PASTOR PREACHES AT METHOD CHURCH

Faith in Protection of God Is the Subject of an Eloquent Sermon.

The Rev. Charles Coko Woods, the new pastor of the First Methodist church, preached his first sermon to a large congregation yesterday morning. His subject was, "Aking Great Things From the Great God," the text being taken from Luke 12:32, "Fear not little flock, for it is your father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

Disease, disaster and death are the three things that people go through life in fear of, said the preacher. Speaking of this fear, he told of seeing in a friend's office the following placard: "I have had lots of trouble in this life. Most of it never happened." He called upon his hearers to have confidence in the assurance that God will not forget, forsake or fail us and pointed out that as the world expects the greatest things of the greatest men, it follows that there can be nothing too great to be expected from God.

In the evening the Rev. J. B. Bristol of New York, district superintendent of the Anti-Slavery league, preached. During the offertory Mrs. F. J. Conley sang, "By the Waters of Babylon."

PARDONED BANK ROBBER A FRESNAN

Emmet Dalton, Kansas Ex-Con, Well Known Here.

Brother Was Famous Desperado of "Dalton Mountain" and Train Robber.

Recent dispatches state that Emmet Dalton, a former resident of this county, has been pardoned by Governor Hoch of Kansas, after serving since 1892 in state's prison there for robbing a bank at Coffeyville, Kan. This brings up recollections of the operations of the Dalton brothers in this county. They were for many years in this section of the state, and went almost directly from here to Kansas, before the bank robbery at which Grant Dalton was killed, and Emmet, after being shot badly, was captured and sent to state's prison. All the family of five boys is well known here. The mother formerly lived in the Tulare county foothills.

The brothers, Lit, Grat, Emmet, Jim and John, all worked at one place and another in this county, between the years of 1880 and 1892, when they left here for Kansas. They were looked on as respectable fellows, in a way, though it was known that they had been in trouble in the middle west before coming here. It is believed that John, the eldest, was associated with Jesse James, and other robbers of the same time. The country was infested in this section with train robbers, which led the sheriff and his men a song and dance. Suspicion fastened itself on the Daltons, and Grat was arrested, convicted, and put into the jail at Visalia for the offense of robbing a local near here. He managed to saw his way out of the jail, and made for the hills.

Finally he took refuge in a mountain camp back of Squaw Valley, and the mountain has since that time been called Dalton mountain. Sheriff John Hensley got wind of his refuge, and went with his deputy, Ed McCauley, who now lives in Madera, to capture the man. Dalton and the posse had a running fight with rifles, in which one was killed. He escaped, however, and after that time was unapprehended for the jail-break until he was shot in Coffeyville.

The Dalton boys worked about in this county, one of them, Lit, being employed as a ranch hand by the Owens boys on their Dry Creek place. They were known as rather quiet fellows, and not addicted to profanity or boisterous behavior at any time. Lit is said never to have carried a gun. However, it fell out, in the spring of 1892, that two of the boys were planning a train robbery, so the family left the country, and went to Oklahoma, and the country of the middle west. Here, it is thought that more robberies were committed by one member of the family or another. It is said that John Dalton, then a man of middle age, was killed in the Indian territory or Oklahoma. It is also said that some of the Daltons were responsible for a series of train robberies in this part of the country. Then, a short time later, the Coffeyville bank robbery occurred, and Emmet was taken, while his brother was killed.

The father of the boys is said to be living in Kansas. Though familiar figures in this county in the '80's, they have not been known here since the Coffeyville affair.

In Missouri they were known as the "Dalton gang," and were looked upon as desperate characters, as well as famous desperadoes. Many people in this county converse familiarly of the family, which was rather widely known here at the time. While Grat's experience and fight with Sheriff Hensley made him famous, the gang seemed to become more notorious in the Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma fields. It is said that they robbed trains all the way from the Indian territory to San Francisco.

SHERIFF ARRESTS MAN WANTED IN OKLAHOMA

W. G. Montgomery Wanted in South for Selling Mortgaged Property.

W. G. Montgomery, who was arrested by Sheriff Chittenden Saturday night, was wanted in Oklahoma for grand larceny, was taken to Visalia last night by Sheriff Collins of Tulare county, who had traced him to Fresno.

Montgomery recently came to Visalia with his wife and five children. He left his family there and came to Fresno last week. Collins informed Sheriff Chittenden, who has been looking for him for several days. The details of the charges against Montgomery are not known here, but he stated at the County Jail that he was probably wanted for selling mortgaged property.

CHINESE FESTIVAL ENDS WITH BURNING OF IMAGES

The Spirits Carry a Report of the Proceedings to Heaven at an Early Hour.

The celebration of the Chinese religious festival of Kin Jin, the revival of the ancient festival, was continued yesterday and last night with much ceremony in the Oriental quarter.

All day long and all night the priests repeated prayers and went through their involved rituals before the altars. They were clad in gorgeously embroidered robes and were attended by a large number of gayly dressed acolytes swinging censers and joining in the shrill responses.

The procession was postponed, for some mysterious reason, until 3 o'clock this morning, when the big images containing the visiting spirits from the other world were burned in the street and the released spirits carried a report of the proceedings to the Chinese heaven.

CONVALESCENT KILLED BY A STREET CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—George Brazasias, a patient in St. Luke's hospital for several weeks, suffering from typhoid fever, left that institution yesterday for the first time since his illness to get a little exercise and fresh air. As he was crossing Twenty-fourth street at Mission, he was struck by a car and injured so severely that he died at the Central Emergency Hospital in the afternoon. He was 24 years of age.

NEW PASTOR IS STRONG AND ELOQUENT PREACHER

Large Congregations Hear First Sermons of Rev. R. W. Perkins at Christian Church.

Rev. R. W. Perkins.

Large congregations listened to the first sermons of the Rev. R. W. Perkins at the morning and evening services in the Christian church yesterday.

In the morning the subject was "Ageless Life" and in the evening "The Greatest in the Greatest Realm."

The Rev. Perkins amply sustained the reputation which he brings for eloquence and force. He spoke with a simplicity and directness that held his hearers' attention at both services and showed a depth of thought and ease of handling his subjects that evoked the warmest praises from his new congregation.

NORWAY GUARANTEE STIRS RESENTMENT

Sweden Feels That Act of Her Neighbor Is a Blow at Her Political Position on Baltic.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 3.—The signing by Norway, France, Germany and Russia of a new treaty guaranteeing the integrity of Norway is a subject of general comment throughout Sweden, at which country the treaty is said to be directly or indirectly aimed. While the treaty is admitted to be Norway's own concern, it already has caused a feeling of wide dissatisfaction and is considered a serious obstacle to the improvement in the future of the relations between Sweden and Norway.

In high quarters regret is expressed at Norway's efforts to place herself under the guarantee of the powers, especially as the declaration is made that the powers may find occasion to attempt the control of Norway's foreign relations. It is said that while the negotiations for this treaty were in progress with Norway, the question was asked by one power whether Sweden also did not desire a guarantee, and that to this the Swedish government answered definitely in the negative. It is recalled that the Swedish minister of foreign affairs recently made the definite declaration that it was not the policy of Sweden which had rendered necessary the guarantee sought by Norway.

NEW YORK LEADERS SANGUINE OF RESULTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who has charge of the Democratic campaign, and Herbert F. Parsons, chairman of the Republican county committee, under whose guidance the canvass of the Republican and Independent league fused, has been conducted, today expressed themselves confident of victory in the New York city election on Tuesday. Answering a question as to what he thought the Democratic majority might reach, Mr. Murphy said:

"It will be more than that." Chairman Parsons still adheres to his recent estimate that the fusion candidates will go into office with majorities ranging from 30,000 to 40,000.

The chief interest in the campaign has centered in the contest for sheriff of New York county and the election of a judge of the court of general sessions.

LITTLE GIRL MANGLED BY COASTING CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Harrying home from Sunday school this afternoon, Etta Piedonburg, 7 years old and living at 3418 Nineteenth street, was run down and killed by a car on Mission street, within half a block of her home. Many people witnessed the accident and infuriated by the sight of the mangled child, which had been cut in two by the wheels, a mob of several hundred stormed the car and threatened to lynch Motorman William Bates. Policeman Curtis, however, fought his way to the car and held the crowd at bay until Bates could be removed to the Police Station, where he was charged with manslaughter.

Motorman Bates declared that he was coasting down the grade and was unable to stop his car.

TWO MEN KILLED IN ALABAMA WRECK

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 3.—Fast passenger train No. 2 on the Queen and Crescent route, going at a high rate of speed, collided head-on with a freight train one mile south of Morristown, Ga., this morning. Two men were killed, six seriously injured and about twenty passengers sustained more or less painful injuries.

The dead are: C. B. Spencer, engineer of Birmingham; William Walker, a negro brakeman.

Rough Voyage from North. SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 3.—Steamship Santa Clara reached port tonight two days overdue, surviving two of the worst storms along the coast this season. She brought back 175 of the Reynolds railroad employes at the expense of Valdez citizens. Captain McDonald says it is one of the roughest voyages in his experience on the run from Alaska.

FINANCIERS ARE IN CONFERENCE

All Night Session of New York Capitalists Excites Remark on the Money Situation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The second of a series of three conferences between men representing large financial interests was held in J. P. Morgan's library, adjoining his residence, last night.

At a late hour the party had not broken up and no intimation had come from the library as to the subject or subjects under discussion. The seven financiers present included J. P. Morgan, George W. Perkins and Charles Steeple of Morgan & Company; James Stillman, National City bank; George F. Baker, First National bank; Henry C. Frick, Elbert Garry, Thomas F. Ryan, Richard Trimble and Grant H. Schley, of the stock exchange firm of Moore & Schley.

Most of those present attended the all day conference at the Library Saturday, and it is understood that another conference is planned for tomorrow.

Concerning yesterday's meeting, Mr. Perkins said that it had been arranged primarily for a discussion of the prospects of moving the grain and cotton crops.

"A prompt movement of grain and cotton to the seaboard," he added, "and its early loading on board ships for export means a great deal to the present situation, indirectly because as soon as our cotton and grain is loaded we can draw against it and thus relieve the foreign exchange situation materially."

At midnight William Solomon, Isaac Seligman, and four others joined the party in the library. These men came from the Waldorf-Astoria, where the directors of the Trust company of America had been in session for several hours. President Oakes Thorne of the Trust company, presided at the meeting, and it was said that he might make a statement later. At the same time in an adjoining room at the Waldorf-Astoria, the officers of the Lincoln Trust company were holding a meeting. All three conferences continued until after midnight, when nothing concerning any of them had been given out.

ROBBERS FRACTURE VICTIM'S SKULL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—H. A. Lambert, a collector employed by the Edison Electric company, is believed to be in danger of death as the result of a fractured skull, and the police are working on the theory that he was assaulted and robbed somewhere in this city. Lambert reached his home at Delgeville last night without $100 he is known to have collected and failed to recognize members of his family. He was finally able to convey the information that he had been struck on the head and robbed, after which he lapsed into unconsciousness.

ARRESTED IN NEW ORLEANS FOR CRIMES IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—The police were notified today that C. M. Barkley, wanted by the police of this city, had been arrested in New Orleans on a charge of uttering worthless currency. Barkley is said by the police to have lived at a rapid rate in this city during last September. He is accused of having issued worthless checks amounting to several hundred dollars, and of having gone through a ceremony of marriage with an actress while his wife was living in this city. He disappeared about a week after the alleged marriage.

TRAINMEN KILLED IN FREIGHT COLLISION

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 3.—Two trainmen were killed, a third is missing and one man was injured as the result of a wreck today when an extra west bound train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad got beyond control and collided with another fast freight on the cranberry grade near McMillan, W. Va., about seventy miles west of here.

FREIGHT STEAMER COMPANIES TO BE IN A BIG COMBINE

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A combination of two big cargo steamship enterprises is in contemplation, the Furness and Withy & company. The company proposes to acquire the fleets of the British maritime trust and the Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship company, thus becoming the owner of no less than 555,522 tons of steamship shipping.

A circular to this effect has been issued by Sir Christopher Furness, who is chairman of both companies. Such a vast fleet of cargo steamers under single ownership would be unprecedented.

GENERAL BOOTH IN NEW YORK MEETINGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—General William Booth, head of the Salvation Army, today conducted in this city, what was considered to be the most important series of meetings of his present probably farewell American tour. The new Amsterdam theater was crowded to the doors with an audience that represented picturesquely cosmopolitan New York.

General Booth preached at the three services, morning, afternoon and evening, and despite his nearly fourscore years, appeared strong, his voice usually carrying throughout the auditorium. He joined lustily in the singing and once when the brass drummer faltered, the veteran leader commanded him to hit harder.

ANOTHER REPORT THAT BOOTH WILL RETIRE FROM OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—An important and in a sense a surprising change is imminent in the cabinet of President Roosevelt. From time to time in the past few months it has been rumored that both Secretary McCall of the navy and Attorney General Bonaparte of the department of justice were likely to retire from administration life.

While the rumors have been denied it is not unlikely that one and perhaps both of these officials may leave the cabinet before the president completes his present term. That, however, is for the future, and the latest information as to a change in the cabinet affects neither McCall nor Bonaparte.

It relates to the retirement of no less a personage than Secretary of State Elihu Root, whose health is impaired and who is inclined to feel that he ought not to jeopardize his remaining strength, mental and physical, by the performance of such exacting duties. It is not likely the change will take place before next spring.

TREASURER WILLIAMS WILL LEND STATE MONEY TO THE BANKS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 3.—Attorney General U. S. Webb says this afternoon informed State Treasurer Williams that it would be legal for him to lend state funds on holidays declared under the prevailing circumstances. Treasurer Williams had several large sums for distribution to successful applicants for state moneys, but did not care to transfer the money until he was sure he could legally do so on a holiday.

The money he is sending out was applied for some time ago and the requests were approved just before the governor's first proclamation. Williams was about to send the desired funds when he determined to be on the safe side and requested a decision from the attorney general. The sums he is distributing in almost no moment are going into the hands of the banks affiliated with clearing houses and will therefore be available for the general use of institutions belonging to a clearing house.

LONDON TIMES SENDS SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT TO PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—In the face of the recent important problems which have arisen on the Pacific coast, the London Times has decided it is likely to place in the future has led the Times of London to appoint Layton W. Clippson, formerly its New York correspondent and cable editor of the New York Times, as its Pacific coast correspondent.

Clippson arrived in San Francisco yesterday, coming from Vancouver, where he has been investigating the recent Japanese riots. He probably will make his headquarters in San Francisco, but will spend a large portion of his time in British Columbia.

Clippson visited San Francisco at the time of the disaster, and wrote an account of it for the Times, and again visited this city last winter to write up the Japanese troubles. Since then the eyes of the world have been drawn so often to the events on the Pacific coast that the Times decided to have a special correspondent make his headquarters here.

Horgan was hit on the head with an iron shovel and his skull fractured. He is said to be in a critical condition at the hospital. Horgan was a shot-putter. ## BRUNSWICKS WIN BASEBALL MATCH

Ray Duncan Is the Candy Kid at Bat.

Saunders Makes Good Balloon Ascension—San Francisco Attracting Attention.

A larger crowd than ever watched the Brunswick team, picked by Bert Maul to play the Anglo-Americans, defeat the Fresno, by a score of 4 to 0, at Recreation Park yesterday. The outcome showed that the team chosen to win for Fresno in the match next Sunday was wisely selected. The whole game was played in promising form, and in a way that set the fans to dancing a horn-pipe at many stages of the proceedings.

Immediately after the game, Professor F. B. Hagal gave a balloon ascension, C. B. Saunders, the budding balloonist, being carried to the clouds by the big bag of gas. He went up about 2500 feet, and might have gone much higher, had it not been that he was being carried rather far away by the wind, and cut loose with his parachute before the balloon had ceased rising. This is in marked contrast to his first ascension, when he stayed with the balloon until it had dropped a thousand feet or more. The ascension was a success, however.

The men stepped into the batter's box to stick out the ball in the following order:

Brunswick team picked by Maul to play the Anglo-Americans:
Duncan ..... Right Field
Cartwright ..... First Base
Ray Tufis ..... Short Stop
Giger ..... Third Base
Morton ..... Second Base
Cardwell ..... Center Field
Barnes ..... Catcher
L. Tufis ..... Pitcher

Fresno:
Brooks ..... First Base
Woolfolk ..... Third Base
Ayres ..... Left Field
Schied ..... Center Field
Kuhn ..... Catcher
P. Thomas ..... Second Base
Jack ..... Short Stop
Gibbs ..... Right Field
Owens ..... Pitcher

R. H. E.
Fresno ..... 4 3 4
Brunswick ..... 0 5 6

Giger, on third for the Brunswicks, was one of the stars of the day. He fielded in fine form, and played a game almost flawless. The star of the willow widders was Ray Duncan, who, out of five times at bat, got one single, a two-bagger, and a three-bagger, and did not once fail to find the ball for some sort of a smash.

Next Sunday, the game with the Anglo-American Croquet team of San Francisco, is expected to come off at the Park. Great interest is already beginning to center in the match, and it will probably be a great drawing card for the day.

News of Central California

MERCED RIVER BEING STOCKED WITH TROUT

Fifty Thousand Rainbow Fry Put Into Streams.

California Fish Commission Sent Young Fish In Tanks From San Francisco.

MERCED, Nov. 3.—The California fish commission is stocking the Merced river with rainbow trout. Yesterday a consignment of 50,000 young fish were forwarded by the Y. V. railroad, to be distributed between Bagby and Ed Postal. This will mean good sport for fishermen next season.

Edmund Russell, a prominent pioneer, farmer and stock raiser, died at his home near Placerville, aged 74 years. He was a native of Tennessee and had been a resident of California since 1853. Besides his wife, six children survive, namely, E. T. Russell of Lodi, ex-G. L. Russell of Modesto, J. E. and G. L. Russell of Merced, Mrs. Claude Ritchey of Athol, and Miss Amy Russell of Merced. The deceased was a man highly esteemed for his strict integrity and other virtues.

A considerable number of Chinese and Mexicans are at work on the Merced river bottom lands packing up corn husks into bales for shipment. A good deal of corn is raised along the river—mostly by Chinese, who either pay a cash rental for land or give the owner a share of the output. The corn crop this year was fairly good. The husks are in demand for tamales wrappers and other purposes. The growers are getting 3 cents a pound for them this year, an unusually high price.

Mrs. Charles Harris, wife of Postmaster Harris, returned today from Yosemite valley, where she spent the summer with her son, Nelson Balton. Henry Miller, the cattle king of the San Joaquin valley, was in Merced today.

Mrs. William Bell, wife of the manager of the hotel at El Portal, is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. G. Hall of Merced.

Miss Maud Smythe, who has been teaching school at Wawona during the summer, has returned to her home in Merced, the school term having ended.

Mrs. Hannah McFarlane, who died in Fresno yesterday, was one of the very early residents of this section, coming to Merced river section in 1849, long before Merced county was organized. She was 77 years old. Her husband, John L. McFarlane, and four sons and one daughter survive. One of the sons is George McFarlane of Clovis; two others live at Snelling; the daughter, Mrs. Laura Duncan, resides in Portland, Ore. The deceased was an aunt, by marriage, of Judge Rector of Merced.

Charles Simon of San Francisco, who has large property interests in Merced, arrived here today.

O. W. Lehmer, superintendent of the Yosemite valley railroad, and his wife and daughter, returned today from a week's trip to Southern California.

The Merced banks are doing business about the same as usual, except that loans are not being made. Deposits are made by business men in the regular course of business as heretofore. The ordinary monthly collections by merchants and others have proceeded as usual. There is no panicky feeling here, and there appeared to be plenty of money in circulation to do all necessary and ordinary business.

JAPANESE CELEBRATE MIKADO'S BIRTHDAY

Religious Services and Wrestling Matches in Honor of Anniversary.

The Japanese residents of Fresno celebrated the fifty-third birthday of the Mikado yesterday with great enthusiasm. Every Japanese shop in town was decorated with the rising sun flag and strings of paper lanterns hung from the fronts of dwellings and places at night.

Special services were held in the Buddhist temple at 10 o'clock in the morning and throughout the afternoon, K. Kuno, priest of the temple officiating. There was also a free performance in the Japanese theater, which was largely attended.

The greatest interest was taken in the wrestling matches held in the vacant lot at the corner of Kern and E streets. Here a ring had been constructed and the national sport of the Japanese was carried on without interruption from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until dark. Fully sixty wrestlers competed, and some splendid exhibitions of the game were given. The prizes were bicycles, suits of clothes, sums of money ranging from $20 down and many useful articles. A large audience watched the sport through the afternoon.

In the evening a number of dinners and other entertainments were given by the leading Japanese merchants.

MENDOTA IS HAVING UNUSUAL ACTIVITY

All Lines of Business in Town Are Increasing.

Hotels Have Been Crowded During Past Week Owing to New Arrivals.

MENDOTA, Nov. 3.—Unusual activity is going on in and around Mendota. Four carloads of lumber have been unloaded here, also several pumping plants have arrived. Hotels are crowded so much that beds have to be a premium this week.

Mr. Paul, a new resident of Mendota, has taken charge of the ranch of Mr. Sterns, and will fence the entire ranch, intending to make stock-raising his main business.

The Silver Creek and Panocha Land and Water Company are making expensive repairs and are enlarging their irrigation territory.

John Ashurst of Vallecito, San Benito county, a cattle man, passed through here this week.

D. J. McPhail, ex-Tax Collector of San Benito county, passed through here on business connected with the San Joaquin Western Railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillman of Cantua, paid Mendota a visit.

A good many Fresno people have been here this week fishing.

Miss Viola Myer is still confined to her bed though somewhat improved.

Frank Davis, proprietor of the Sunset Hotel, made a flying trip to Visalia.

Mendota business men are feeling the effects of the banks not cashing checks. The Standard Oil company and Southern Pacific company both employing numerous men in their pipe line, many of whom quitting their jobs are paid off in checks which so far have been cashed by the business men of the town.

Mr. Pughen is still on the sick list although—up and around—still looks weak.

Mrs. C. R. Irish and sister returned to their home in Alameda.

RIVER IMPROVEMENT TO BE SUBJECT AT MEETING

Association Delegates Will Gather for Discussion Next Monday in San Francisco.

The following official notice to members has been issued from the headquarters of the River Improvement and Drainage association of California:

"A general meeting of the River Improvement and Drainage association of California will be called for Monday, November 11, 1907, at 10 a. m., at the headquarters of the association in the California building, Union square, San Francisco.

The members of the California delegation to congress will be present. The principal object of the meeting is to present to the congressional representatives the views of the people regarding the assistance that is desired from the federal government to improve California's waterways. You are urgently requested to be present."

The general public is invited to attend the meeting, which promises to be of great interest and importance.

Needs for improvement of California waterways will be presented to the delegation by men specially qualified to speak. Among these may be mentioned:

George W. Peitler, president Sacramento drainage commission; Colonel John Biddle and Major C. H. McKinstry of the United States engineering corps; Engineer William Ham Hall; Lewis E. Aubrey, state mineralogist; George W. Taterson of Stockton and R. J. Hogg of Colusa, members of the advisory board of the state engineer; D. C. Henry, in charge of the United States reclamation service of California and Oregon; N. E. Kelly, state engineer; Harold T. Fowler of East Auburn, who will make an address at the meeting on the forest reserves and their effect upon the drift gravel mines of the state; former Lieutenant-Governor Alden Anderson; A. R. Sprague of Sacramento; and others.

Protestant Haal, who is now engaged in securing tonnage data of the great interior valleys of California, for the association, will give the result of his labors up to the present time. This data is to be placed at the services of the California delegation to congress to be used by the members in their arguments for extended appropriations for river work.

Simultaneously with the meeting of the River Improvement and Drainage association, other matters pertaining to California's interests will be presented to the congressional delegation, and it is expected that all those who have something to present will do so at this time. The members of the delegation are glad to receive suggestions from the people of the state and at this meeting a good opportunity will be given to discuss all matters in a most thorough manner.

LOS BANOS, Nov. 3.—Postmaster Angelo Genelly, left Monday forenoon for Gurneville, in response to a message informing him of the death of his uncle, Joe Berry, a resident of that place. Mr. Berry was about 65 years of age at the time of his death, a widower with one child, a widow.

Mr. Genelly will fall directly as heir to the vast property interests of his uncle for whom he has acted in the management, in a way, for some time. The remains of his uncle were interred in the cemetery at Gurneville.

The rate fixed by our supervisors was $1.65 per acre, while that of Fresno was 80c and Stanislaus was $1.50. Had a rate of $1.00 for Fresno, county; $2.00 for Stanislaus and the $1.65 rate here it would have been no doubt accepted.

"MY PARTNER" WAS SUBSTITUTE PLAY

Georgia Woodthorpe Called to City By Husband's Illness.

Lee Willard Company Will Present "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" Tonight.

Owing to the serious illness of Fred Cooper in San Francisco, Georgia Woodthorpe, known to the stage as Georgia Woodthorpe, was called to the city and Lee Willard's company played "My Partner" last evening at the Barton Opera house, instead of "A Texas Ranger," which was billed to open the three nights' stand of the company.

Tonight Mr. Willard will present "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," playing the title role himself, which is one of his strongest.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" was to be the play for tonight, but owing to the absence of Mrs. Cooper, who plays a principal part, the program of the company here had to be changed.

The theater was crowded to the guards last night and the audience showed its appreciation of the play, which moved very smoothly, considering that it was substituted on short notice. Mr. Willard at once gained the appreciation of his audience and was ably supported by the remainder of the company.

The scene of the play is laid in Oregon in the mining camps of early days, when the greed and villainies of outlaws were mingled with the stern qualities of the honest miners.

There was a great deal of laughter in the climax of the last act, owing to the villain, Josiah Scraggs, shouting, as his crime was discovered, "He struck me first—but he killed me!" He killed me, but the audience had found no fault with the play and was ready enough to overlook the little slip of the tongue, under the circumstances and the handicap of the company.

For a popular priced attraction, the work of the members of Mr. Willard's company is remarkably free from the slouchy manner of some of the road shows.

DIED.

CATARH OF THE STOMACH

A Most Dangerous Disease, Which Causes Serious Results, Unless Properly Treated.

Catarh of the Stomach is very common and is known as one of the most obstinate diseases, which, when neglected or improperly treated with cheap patent medicines, tonics, drugs, pills, and other secret quick remedies, results in a broken down constitution and often consumption and death.

Catarh of the Stomach, like every other disease of the stomach, except cancer, is the result of poor digestion. The digestive organs have become weak; there is a lack of gastric juice, your food is only half digested, and as a result you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, heartburn, vomiting, waterbrash, tenderness at pit of stomach, slimy tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs and face, sleeplessness, nausea, belching of gas, diarrhoea, sick-headaches, dizziness, mental depression, nervous weakness, and many other common symptoms.

If your stomach cannot digest the food you eat, then the stomach needs a rest, as that is the only way you can get rid of your catarrh. But in the meantime your body needs plenty of nourishment, because you must live and in order to live, you must eat, and if you must eat, your food must be properly digested, and if your stomach is too weak to do the work, then you must get a substitute that will do the work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only known substitute that will digest your food as well as any healthy stomach. They contain vegetable and fruit essences, aseptic pepsin (gov. test), gold seal and diastase, the very elements necessary to digest all foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret remedy, and for that very reason thousands of physicians all over the United States recommend them to their patients for catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia of all kinds, and other stomach troubles. Experiments and tests have proven that one grain of the active principle contained in these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, and are sold in large fifty-cent boxes at all drug stores.

Send us your name and address and we will send you a free sample package. The relief you will get from this trial package alone will convince you of the merits of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

POST CARD CRAZE AND KODAK FIEND

Craze Opens Field of Profit for Amateurs.

People in the Country Glad to Have Their Clubs, Houses and Pets Pictured.

"However the postoffice authorities may regard the present craze for picture post cards, it is certainly a boon to the amateur with a small camera," said a man who belongs to that class himself. "It used to be that a camera was an expense to the fellow who wasn't a professional, but now any camera fiend with a little pluck and business ability can turn an honest penny."

"Even in a large city like New York the market is good in some lines. But it is out of town in the summer time, that the energetic amateur may now make hay with the camera."

"This year I have devoted my Sunday and Saturday afternoons to visiting country and yacht clubs in the vicinity of this city. In almost every instance the trip has proved profitable as well as pleasant."

"My request for permission to photograph the club house and grounds has never been refused, and often some of the members have allowed me to take their pictures on the golf links, on horseback or in groups on the piazza. I never snap people without their being aware of it."

"Usually I make my first visit to a place on a Sunday. I do my developing and print a number of cards, and on Saturday afternoon, when the club is apt to be well patronized, I go out again to show my work. I always dispose of a number of the cards, and not infrequently go home with orders for more."

"A friend of mine turned his camera to even better account this summer. He lost his job last May and decided that instead of applying for a new one then, he would go away to the country for the warm months, and rely upon paying his way by making photographic post cards. He returned last week no poorer than when he had started and refreshed and healthy after his long vacation."

"He travelled from town to town all up the Hudson, and even into Connecticut. He selected places where there was only a small village, with wealthy cottagers in the country about, and where therefore competition would be small."

"His first step was always to inspect the supply of post cards at the village general store, and if these consisted, as was usually the case, of the local church and the town house, and the soldiers' monument in the local cemetery, he decided to stay a while and try his luck."

"Then he started to visit the large country houses around, pretty much as I do the club houses. He always got leave to photograph them and frequently was allowed to take family groups or pictures of the children."

"When the family could not be induced to have their likenesses on post cards he would suggest a pretty art card with some of the family pets as subjects, and this met with favor in so many cases that he soon became quite expert at taking pictures of dogs, cats and horses."

"Then there were always some views in the neighborhood which with those of the fine residences he sold not only to the wealthy cottagers but in the village and at the boarding house or hotel. He rarely stayed more than a week. That's sufficient to play out the possibilities of the average country place of the kind."

"How much profit there is in photo post cards can be calculated from the fact that a gross of undeveloped cards may be had for about $1.35. For those who want to go into the thing extensively there are printing machines which print as many as 500 cards in an hour."—New York Sun.

SWEDEN'S NEW LIQUOR LAW.

Another Scheme of Dividing the Profits of the Gothenburg System.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—An important change has gone into effect in the law regulating the liquor trade in Sweden. It has been found necessary to alter the Gothenburg system of licensing, which resorts to disinterested ownership as a cure for excessive drinking.

It is now recognized that critics of its most essential feature were justified. The original aim was to apply all the profits after paying 5 per cent interest to the holders of the capital to benevolent purposes, municipal and national.

This must have worked out less nobly than it sounds, for it is in the allocation of the profits that the new law has had to make a change. Municipal cupidity had reached the pitch of practically absorbing the moral purpose of the system.

The owning company, known as a "Bolg," is the unit in which the Gothenburg system works itself out. It does not concern itself with beer, in which there is practically free trade, but controls the production and distribution of spirits, especially the popular and easily sold as brandy.

There was an agitation to bring beer under the system by the new act, but public opposition was too strong and it was defeated.

Municipal districts are now under the system, which at first applied only to the towns. Among the leading provisions of the new act are the following: Not less than one litre of spirits may in future be sold for consumption off the premises; the board of directors of a Bolg shall consist of five members, three appointed by the shareholders, one by the county council and one by the local agricultural society.

A new element in supervision is that a representative of the local government board attends the meetings of each Bolg, taking part in its discussions, but not in its decisions. At public entertainments spirits may not be served on the premises.

What is chiefly novel in the new act is the provision for dealing with the surplus profits of the Bolgs. From experience the country has learned that the policy of appropriating to the relief of local rates the greater part of the profits has often demoralized municipal authorities.

Many of its first advocates in Sweden have admitted throughout that it was not simply the desire for promoting temperance that animated them. They furthered its adoption by pointing to the opportunity of reducing local taxation by annexing the profits of the trade.

Under the act of 1895 in Sweden 70 per cent of the surplus profits of the Bolgs went to the municipal authorities, 10 per cent to the local agricultural society, and 20 per cent to the public treasury for distribution among the rural districts according to population. The net profits of the Gothenburg company alone have increased from $14,000 in 1885 to $385,000 in 1904.

The law now recognizes the danger of leaving 70 per cent of this sum in the hands of the local authorities, which in future will get a very much smaller proportion. The passage in the new act which deals with surplus profits is as follows: "In the towns 25 per cent, together with an additional percentage decreasing from 15 per cent in 1908 to 1 per cent in 1920, will go to the municipal authorities and the balance will be paid into the public treasury." Out of the amounts thus received by the treasury the latter in first, to set aside an amount equivalent to one-hundredth part of all the taxes and profits throughout the country to further the temperance cause and fight against the evils of drunkenness, and, secondly, to distribute among the county councils and towns independent of the county councils a sum equivalent to one-fifth of the total spirit trade receipts and among the local agricultural societies, a sum equivalent to one-eighth of the total spirit trade receipts. The remaining funds are to be distributed by the treasury among the country districts according to population. The intention of these new provisions is to lessen the opportunities of local cupidity.

VESSEL CANNOT DISCHARGE NEEDED CARGO OF COAL

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Nov. 3.—Despite the fact of a threatened fuel famine on Puget Sound, the British schooner Strathairn, arriving this morning and having 1200 tons of coal aboard, may be compelled to take the same out of the country owing to the laws which prevent foreign bottoms carrying cargo between American ports. When the Strathairn was taken on under charter by Grace & Co. on the Atlantic seaboard, the first being made with the expectation of being able to make a profit by supplying war vessels on the west coast in Chilean waters. The Strathairn replenished the bunkers of the cruisers Cincinnati and Raleigh, but still has 1200 tons on board. This is still aboard the vessel, and would be snapped up by the navy department at Bremerton or by private dealers, were it possible to get it from the vessel legally.

The condition works a particular hardship on the Strathairn because the space the coal now occupies is to be used for grain cargo which is to be shipped to the Philippines. The vessel is now at Harbor King, where she discharges a large consignment of copper matte at the smelters.

FARMERS STORING CORN IN HOPES OF HIGHER PRICES

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.—The financial troubles in New York, with their later echo in the West, have not alarmed the farmers of Nebraska. For the past decade the farmers of this state have disposed of their crops by contract, and they were not changed. During the week word came to Lincoln from all sections of the state to the effect that farmers are building bins to store away the corn they are about to harvest. They say they will hold their grain for higher prices, although as high as 45 cents is now being offered. Some of them, of course, will sell part of their yield within the next few weeks. Some of them will sell their entire crop, while a few have already contracted for the disposal of their grain. These, however, are in the minority.

The majority of the farmers, local grain buyers say, will hold their crop for a higher price, and some expect 75 cents a bushel. They feel assured they will be offered that price before spring.

DEWEY'S NEW AID OFFICER OF NOTE

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 3.—Lieutenant H. V. Butte, who was detached from the flagship West Virginia Friday and ordered to Washington as aid to Admiral Dewey, is but 32 years of age and one of the most popular men in the navy. His post on the Olympia under Admiral Dewey during the war with Spain was that of ensign. He is an all-round athlete and particularly distinguished himself at a tournament in boating, contests at the club there. He was appointed chief engineer on first joining the West Virginia, and afterward ordnance officer when the fleet reached Manila. Five graduates of his class of 75 were named commencing with the letter B, all of whom have died violent deaths, with the exception of Admiral Dewey's new aid. These included young Breckinridge, who was washed overboard in the China seas, and Lieutenant Bayly, who was killed during the war with Spain.

Lieutenant Commander Spencer Wood, who steps aside for Lieutenant Butte, does so through promotion, having received his commission as commander of one of the three "scouting cruisers" attached to the navy. He will command either the Custer, the Birmingham or the Salton. These vessels, a recently derived arm of the service, are boats of about 4000 tons, built purely for speed purposes and capable of developing twenty-four knots an hour. Spencer Wood is about 45 years of age.
